Highlights of the Week

We have had a pretty busy week. We have been talking to the children about being what thanksgiving means. They all shared what they were thankful for– unicorns, lollipops, rainbows, their pets and siblings oh yeah Mom & Dad.

We have started studying the seven continents. Our 1st continent that we are exploring is North America. The state of Michigan and the city that they live in. So on the way to school please take the time to talk to your child about their city and state. We would love to hear all about your city when we share at morning line.

We shared our Thanksgiving feast with the Mulberry Classroom. The children made Native American headbands and cut vegetables for “Stone Soup” (veggie soup). Thank you Mrs. Subash for sharing your time by coming in reading a story and helping out with the celebration.

Thank you all for coming out to parent teacher conference. I’m confident that joint partnership is the key to your child’s success in school. It was a pleasure meeting with you all. If you have any questions throughout the school year, please don’t hesitate to contact me. I have provided my E-mail below.

Welcome Mrs. Shetty to the Magnolia Classroom we are glad to have you!

Happy Gobble-Gobble Day!

Dr. Maria Montessori’s Words:

*“The child is both a hope and a promise
For mankind.”*
