

Highlights of the Week

December has arrived! It's hard to believe we have been at school for over three months now.

Children are working hard, concentrating on working independently. I am happy to see so many students challenging themselves in math and language.

In science our biologist are learning about lifecycle of a plant/Tree, and its parts –roots, trunk, branches, leaves and how plants make their own food.

Our popular activities are in practical life area. Children are folding napkins and grinding spices with hand grinder. Isn't it a perfect time to get ready for festive season cooking project?

In geography we are moving from our country USA to our state MICHIGAN. It is surrounded by five lakes and its divided in two parts – Upper Peninsula- looks like running rabbit, and lower peninsula – looks like mitten.

Happy 4th walk around the Sun Ava and happy 5th walk around the Sun Myra.

Last but not least, a big thank you to all the families for making our "cookies around the world" event very festive and fun filled.

Dr. Maria Montessori's Words:

"Social grace, Inner discipline and joy, these are the birthright of the human being who has been allowed to develop essential human qualities."

Home/School Connection

We are discussing about holidays around the world. We would like to hear from your child what special holidays you celebrate.

The holidays are a time for family to come together to celebrate tradition and to learn the reason for the season. Teaching our children about how different cultures and religion celebrates these holidays can do wonders for their ability to respect other cultures and expand their worldview.
