

Highlights of the Week

Greetings! Even though this week is short, we were very busy in the classroom.

We began our week by honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The children learn that no matter how different we look, we are same and equal. How we can be peaceful, respectful in our classroom and at home.

While visiting Asia, we are learning about famous landmark like Taj-Mahal in India, The Great Wall of China, beautiful I castle in Russia and lots of artifacts like Japanese art of Origami, National bird of India peacock, Tallest building in Dubai- Burj Khalifa and the list goes on....

In science we are learning about two major groups of animals. Vertebrates- animals with back bone and Invertebrates- animals without back bones.

Now we are also learning about Fish. Who lives in water, have scales on their body and fins for movement. In art they are making their fish that has colorful scales.

In practical life children are enjoying and eager to work with soap grinding and sponge squeezing with a garlic press.

Happy 4th walk around the Sun, Samarth!!!!!!

Dr. Maria Montessori's Words:

"Scientific instruments are like the alphabet, and one must know how to use them to be able to read the secret of nature."
