

Highlights of the Week

The end of the school is quickly approaching us. The students are very antsy possibly due to the change in the weather.

Language area: The students are continuously working on learning and reviewing their sounds. We have students that are building sentences with the moveable alphabets and writing them. We are also working on memorizing and reading sight words. They have made their own set of memory cards that have sight words on them.

Science area: We are still watching our caterpillars go through their transformation stage. The students come in daily hoping to see a new butterfly. So far three of the five caterpillars have changed into beautiful butterflies. The students are trying to think of names for them all. We have also started talking about various insects. The students all were able to be Bug Explorers. They each had a chance to go outside with our bug catching kit to try and find/catch a bug. The students found one lady bug, one water bug, one spider and several ants. Surprisingly no one was afraid of the bugs. Did you know ? That ants have two stomachs. One is used to feed itself. The second stores food that the ants shares with others.

This news letter was edited by one of our students: Charlotte Du. She insists on reading the scribbles once it has been completed. Thanks you again!

Dr. Maria Montessori's Words:

"There can be no substitute for work, neither affection nor physical well-being can replace it."

Home/School Connection

We still have several snow boots here that need to be taken home.

With the weather getting warmer outside we have put on the air conditioner inside. Please send in a light weight sweater/jacket that your child can put on just in case they become cold. Don't forget to label it.
